"Nobody can be exactly like me. Sometimes even I have trouble doing it."
Tallulah Bankhead

How much of you is the real you? How much is a reflection of your friends? It's hard to be true to yourself 100 percent of the time, especially when you're still growing and changing. You may not even know who the real you really is. What's important is to be aware of influences like peer pressure. Before you decide to fit in, check in with your own feelings, values, and beliefs.

TODAY: I'll think about ways in which I'm different from my friends.

Memo:

P/T Conference are scheduled for October 28 and 30th. Your scheduled time will be mailed out next week.

Adults and students are free to choose a class and/or teacher/leader to remember in prayer throughout the school year. Choose one of choose many.
